

Updates from the Chief Editor

Volume 10 Number 1 June 2011

As an update, IMJM is now indexed in Scopus database. Our next aim is to get into others such as ISI, Medline and PubMed. Again, this requires sustained effort from the editorial team members, and also a constant submission of articles and case reports to IMJM.

There is now in place a robust system of review of submissions, and this will ensure that IMJM maintains its quality and timeliness. The university is also currently reviewing a few publication incentives relating to books and journals, and this will undoubtedly flow positively to IMJM.

Finally, thank you for all the support.
